DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. In view of the Appeal Brief filed on March 21, 2005, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. A new ground of rejection is set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

- (1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,
- (2) request reinstatement of the appeal.

If reinstatement of the appeal is requested, such request must be accompanied by a supplemental appeal brief, but no new amendments, affidavits (37 CFR 1.130, 1.131 or 1.132) or other evidence are permitted. See 37 CFR 1.193(b)(2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-2, 7-8, 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Barber, USPN 6,157,917 (hereafter referred to as Barber).

Art Unit: 2145

Barber, USPN 6,157,917 (hereafter referred to as Barber)

4. Regarding claim 1, Barber taught a method of maintaining state information on a client (abstract), the method comprising:

transmitting an unmodifiable cookie which specifies state information from a server to the client (column 3, lines 28-34, column 4, lines 61-62); and storing the unmodifiable cookie on the client (column 1, lines 58-67).

5. Regarding dependent claim 2, Barber taught the unmodifiable cookie is transmitted from the client to the server when the client makes predefined requests to the server (column 5, lines 1-9) and wherein the unmodifiable cookies is transmitted with a file (column 5, lines 10-17).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 3-5, 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Barber in view of Brian Grainger, Where Have You Been to Yesterday? (hereafter referred to as Grainger).

8. Regarding dependent claim 3, Barber taught a copy of the unmodifiable cookie is stored in a public cookie file (column 1, lines 62-67, column 2, lines 8-12). Barber does not specifically teach a copy of the unmodifiable cookie is stored in a private cookie file.

Art Unit: 2145

However, Grainger taught a copy of a cookie is stored in a public cookie file (\\Windows\Cookies directory, page 1, area 3) and the cookie is stored in an private cookie file in a location separate from the public cookie file on the client (\\Windows\Temporary Internet Files directory, page 1, area 3). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made that incorporating Grainger's public and private cookie files in Barber's system using intelligent cookies would have improved system utility. The motivation would have been to adapt the system for use with Internet Explorer, one of the most popular Internet browsers.

9. Regarding dependent claim 4, Barber taught in response to a request from the client for a document requiring an unmodifiable cookie, checking the public cookie file for a matching cookie (column 4, lines 35-48).

10. Regarding dependent claim 5, Barber taught an unmodifiable cookie (column 2, lines 5-15). Grainger taught where no matching cookie is present in the public cookie file, checking the private cookie file for a matching cookie (precedent used by Internet Explorer, page 1).

11. The language of claims 7-11, 13-15 is substantially the same as previously rejected claims 1-5, above. Therefore, claims 7-11, 13-15 are rejected on the same rationale as previously rejected claims 1-5, above.

Allowable Subject Matter

12. Claims 6 and 12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

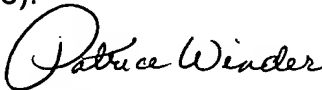

13. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art of record fails to teach or suggest updating the public cookie file to reflect the unmodifiable cookies found in the private cookie file when considering the limitations of the intervening claims.
